Airline Wreck Zone Sealed For Probers

All 68 Aboard Die As TWA Ship Falls During Italian Storm

MILAN, Italy (AP) — An armored car regiment and hundreds of police today sealed off a three-mile zone of scattered wreckage that may hold the secret behind the crash of a U.S. airliner in a furious summer thunderstorm. All 68 persons aboard were killed.

Witnesses said they saw lightning strike the four-engine constellation Friday. Aviation experts said it was more likely that the Chicago-bound Trans World Airline plane was shaken to pieces by the violence of the storm.

Some people on the ground said they heard the plane explode in the air. There was also the possibility of mechanical failure as the cause of Italy's worst air disaster.

Italian and American experts began their inquiry today. Investigators came from the U.S. and Italian government air safety agencies and TWA. An Italian district attorney, Salvatore Petrucci, also was sent by the government.

Until the investigation is finished not even the relatives of the victims will be allowed near the triangle of blackened aluminum, all that remained of the plane that plummeted into a field north of here.

The plane had taken off from Malpensa Airport in this big north Italian industrial city just 17 minutes before. It flew north toward the Swiss Alps and into the storm. It was headed for Paris and then a nonstop flight to Chicago's O'Hare Airport.

At least 28 passengers and 6 crew members were American. Bodies, so badly mangled that identification of most was not immediately possible, were collected at an improvised shelter in the woods.

Bits of the giant Constellation were scattered in a three-mile trail along the ground among the crowded villages north of Milan.

People on the ground said they saw the lightning bolt hit over Castellanza. All reported the plane then turned into a fireball. It continued aloft with its gas tanks exploding, they said, then hit ground near Marante in the shadow of the Alpine resort country.

The U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board, which dispatched Martin Clarke, its assistant chief safety engineer, to work with Italian officials, has no record of any airliner blowing up in flight after being hit by lightning.

TWA said the last radio signal heard from the plane was a report that it had climbed to 10,000 feet. But witnesses said they saw the plane flying much lower.

Investigators from the Italian Civil Aviation Administration also planned to talk to the eyewitnesses, none of whom was known to be schooled in aviation.

The victims included Americans, Italians, French, British and several other European nationalities.

One of the dead was Maria Sacchetti Fermi, a Rome teacher identified as the sister of the late Enrico Fermi, Italian physicist who helped develop the atomic bomb. Fermi died of cancer in Chicago five years ago.

'My Sons!' Father Cries at Wreckage

MILAN, Italy (AP)—A haggard little man ducked past police lines today, slipped through a grove of trees, then dashed for the wreckage of a TWA airliner which had crashed Friday, killing 68 persons.

Police ran after him. They are under orders to keep everyone away from the crash scene until an official investigation is completed.

As police escorted him out of the zone, the man sobbed: "But my sons! My two sons! They're in there!"

He pulled out documents identifying him as Carlo Cavallanti. His sons, Gabriele and Franco, died in the wreckage.

Area Churches Seek Offerings On Mission's 2nd Birthday

From an orange-colored shack to a new structure worthy of its purpose, that's the story of the Lowery Lane Mission which celebrates its second anniversary as the Circleville Community Mission tomorrow.

The old shack on Lowery Lane should have been condemned, but it stood unoccupied; until a group of Circleville Bible College students saw it as a meeting place for those interested in the welfare of that area.

The young men armed with brooms, mops, and soap; cleaned and scrubbed the interior of the old shack. The only paint donated was a glaring orange, but it served to cover the weatherbeaten exterior of the ramshackle building.

The Bible College students invited all youth of Lowery Lane to come to the new mission, and there they were given Bible instruction; taught cleanliness, and a new way of life was opened to them.

All of these efforts in the small mission were noticed by Mr. Joe Moats. He saw a practical use for a plot of ground which he owned in that area. So he began clearing the site of old apple trees, and leveling the soil. He then threw out a challenge to the Circleville and Pickaway County community by offering the spacious site for the erection of a new mission building.

THE PICKAWAY County Ministerial Assn. took up the challenge. It incorporated the Circleville Community Mission, Nov. 13, 1956, and appealed to the community for building funds. The goal was $15,000. An attorney was secured free for the legal work and Lowery Lane residents donated $40 to help the cause.

Churches, businesses, clubs and individuals responded so well that the new building on Lowery Lane was dedicated June 2, 1957, and now stands free of indebtedness.

Many have joined in providing services, materials and funds for the operation of the mission. Nevertheless, operating funds are low, some new equipment is needed, and supplies for the future must be purchased.

Sunday morning, in all the churches throughout the community, anniversary offerings will be taken to aid in the mission's work.

The mission needs Sunday school registers, basement ceiling, clock, and materials for boy's handicraft.

Funds should be sent to the treasurer, Montford Kirkwood, 110 Collins Court.

For clothing or other goods delivered to the mission, see Mr. Hapenny, who lives beside the mission. For pickup, call Russell Merritt, student pastor, GR 4-3496; Mrs. Alice Huff, GR 4-4931; or the Circleville Bible College, GR 4-4977.

The Board of Trustees for the mission are the Rev. Donald E. Mitchell, president; Montford Kirkwood, treasurer; The Rev. Glen M. Johnson, secretary; The Rev. Carl G. Zehner; the Rev. Richard G. Humble; the Rev. Spurgeon Metzler; the Rev. R. Dale Fruehling; the Rev. William G. Huber; and Fritz Sieverts.

The board of trustees will have an organizational meeting at 10 a. m. July 6 at the Bible College.

Mrs. Klumpp To Face More Cross-Examination Monday

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Edythe Klumpp, who has spent almost two full court days on the witness stand faces another hour or so of questioning when her first-degree murder trial resumes Monday. She is charged with shooting and beating Mrs. Louise Bergen to death last Oct. 30.

"I'm completely exhausted," she said Friday after sitting through sweltering heat in a four-hour cross-examination by Hamilton County Asst. Prosecutor Harry C. Schoettner. One of two recesses was called when Mrs. Klumpp told Judge Frank M. Gusweiler she was ill.

The day's session was marked by biting exchanges between Mrs. Klumpp and Schoettner. Through it all, Mrs. Klumpp stuck to her story that Mrs. Bergen was shot accidentally in a struggle for a gun in the Klumpp car.

Mrs. Klumpp is accused of killing Mrs. Bergen and then burning the body the next day after keeping it in the trunk of her car overnight. The state claims she wanted to marry Mrs. Bergen's husband, William. She had been living with him for several months.

Mrs. Klumpp, a divorced mother of four, is 41. Mrs. Bergen was 32 and Bergen is 30.

Mrs. Klumpp said Mrs. Bergen called her Oct. 30 and arranged the meeting which ended in death. She said when they stopped on a secluded street in Caldwell Park here to talk over the marital situation she got out of the car and into the back seat to remove an obstruction from under the front seat.

She contends that when she arose, Mrs. Bergen was pointing the gun at her and the struggle and shooting ensued.

During cross-examination, Mrs. Klumpp denied repeatedly that she shot Mrs. Bergen or clubbed her with the gun as the state claims.

"You bashed that head not once, not twice but many times didn't you?" asked Schoettner.

"I never had that gun in my hands at any time," Mrs. Klumpp replied.

She said she had grasped Mrs. Bergen's arm and had forced her down on the front seat. She said the gun was pushed up under Mrs. Bergen's chin when it was discharged.

Asked why she didn't notify authorities of the shooting, Mrs. Klumpp said:

"I didn't kill her. I was afraid they would say I killed her." As Schoettner started to question her again on that point she said, "You're not believing me, you're calling me a liar."

Crash Is Fatal To 3; 6 Hurt

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Three persons were killed and six others injured today in an automobile collision on U. S. 25 (Dixie Highway) 1 1/2 miles south of Franklin.

The highway patrol said no names were immediately available. One car, investigators reported, is from Tennessee.

Dead are a man, woman and an infant, sex undetermined, the patrol said, describing the crash as the worst in this area since five people died in a head-on collision just south of Middletown about one year ago.

Cutting torches were required to untangle wreckage of the cars.

One car bore an Ohio license in the "LG" series; the other was believed to be from Crooksville, Tenn.

The seaway stamps, which had their first day sales at Massena, N.Y. and Ottawa Friday while the seaway was being dedicated, mark the first time the United States has joined with another country in issuing an identical design.

Tension Relieved as Union Agrees to New Steel Talk

Federal Tax Cuts Possible in 1960

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise tax bill holds prospects of a cut next year in the federal 10 per cent tax on telephone charges and in rail, bus and airplane ticket taxes.

Senate and House conferees Friday approved the compromise bill which continues Korean wartime corporate income and excise tax rates for another year. These taxes drop to pre-Korean levels at midnight Tuesday unless a new law is enacted.

The conferees sent back to the Senate and House a bill which would, in its immediate effect, simply continue taxes without change until June 30, 1960. Then a decision on changing tax rates would again come before Congress.

Conferees abandoned Senate-passed proposals which would have (1) repealed the 4 per cent stock dividend income credit; (2) repealed the entire 10 per cent communications and passenger transportation taxes; and (3) increased federal welfare assistance grants to the states by 142 million dollars a year.

The House bill was limited to continuation of the 52 per cent tax on corporation income and present rates on automobiles, auto parts and accessories, cigars, liquor, wine and beer.

In compromising their differences, Senate - House conferees proposed cutting in half the passenger transportation tax effective June 30, 1960, provided Congress does not vote to continue the full rate before then.

And they agreed to the repeal of the 10 per cent communications tax as it applies to local phone charges, also effective June 30, 1960. The tax on long distance phone tolls and other communication charges would not be affected.

The effect was to place these proposed tax rates on a temporary year-to-year basis rather than on a permanent basis as now.

The compromise bill is to be called up Monday in both House and Senate for expected approval and transmittal to the White House for the president's signature before the Tuesday midnight deadline.

Hoffa Pledges Again to Clean Up Teamsters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two and a half years after the Senate Labor - Management Committee began investigating him, James R. Hoffa still promises to drive racketeers from office in his Teamsters' Union.

His story is the same—he'll do it in his own good time.

Hoffa told the committee Friday he has the power and the authority to do it now, but will not act until the committee ends its investigation.

His promise drew a scornful retort from Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

"I have no hope of your ever cleaning up the union, Mr. Hoffa," Kennedy said.

The committee named a long string of union officials with long criminal records who have pleaded the Fifth Amendment as witnesses. Their crimes include extortion, murder and narcotics.

Hoffa said he would attend to them in due course, including Sam Goldstein, president of New York Local 239, who draws his $20,000-a-year union salary and expense account while serving a jail term for extortion.

Hoffa acknowledged he has invested $58,636.07 in a Teamster antiracketeering committee consisting principally of former Sen. George H. Bender of Ohio.

He said the Bender committee hasn't turned up even one hoodlum who should be ousted. He said Bender never had mentioned to him the case of Teamster Goldstein drawing pay while in jail.

Satchmos Condition Still Improving

SPOLETO, Italy, (AP) — Louis Armstrong's condition continued to improve today after a bout with pneumonia.

"I want to blow this joint," the jazz king told a hospital attendant. Satchmo, as millions of fans around the world call him, slept heavily through the night. Shortly after midnight his nurse said his temperature remained normal.

He had many visitors Friday as he sat up in bed, pretended to play the trumpet and hummed "The Sunny Side of the Street."

The raspy-voiced king of jazz, 58, bounced back from a grave attack of pneumonia that made doctors fear for his life. They said his strong recovery was remarkable.

Long To Take Week's Rest Before Attending to Job

COVINGTON, La. (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long, just one busy day out of a mental institution, settled down today to about a week's rest recommended by a team of psychiatrists.

The governor, staying at a tiny country motel, said he would follow the doctors' instructions. "I wouldn't have sent for them if I had intended otherwise," he added.

His words Friday indicated the contrary. He talked of renewing his campaign for re-election. "I thought I would have to make 300 speeches next fall to win, but now I think I can do it with 100 speeches."

A platoon of doctors took over the governor's routine by invitation, banned all nonessential visitors and unnecessary activity.

This voluntary medical treatment may slow the 63-year-old governor's progress along a trail of vengeance against Louisiana politicians the governor feels have done him wrong. No new reprisals were announced.

Long ended 27 days of confinement in two mental hospitals at midmorning Friday.

The governor had the State Hospital Board petition him to dismiss State Hospitals Director Jesse Bankston and Dr. Charles Belcher, acting superintendent of Southeast Louisiana (mental) Hospital at Mandeville. This action

Hawaiians Voting Today On Statehood

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaiians vote on statehood for a last time today and picked candidates for their first state election a month hence.

From all sides come predictions that the islanders will give an overwhelming "yes" to admit the mid-Pacific island chain as the 50th state.

They had done so in two earlier plebiscites and have been pleading for statehood for half a century.

The simultaneous primary reflected the multi-racial makeup of the islands.

Candidates of Asian descent predominated on the primary list and the first state election July 28 is expected to send at least one Oriental to Congress.

Hawaii will elect two U.S. senators and one representative next month. Five of the eight leading aspirants are of Japanese or Chinese ancestry.

The statehood referendum is one of the last legal steps required before Hawaii can join the union. Congress last March 12 voted statehood for the islands but the bill provided the question of statehood be put before the islanders once more.

Following approval, the new state will hold elections next month and sometime in August President Eisenhower is expected to proclaim statehood for Hawaii.

But McDonald Warns Against Filibustering

Top Executives Shun Invitation to Parley; Strike Deadline Nears

NEW YORK (AP)—The Steelworkers Union agreed today to resume contract negotiations with the industry's regular bargaining team.

The union action relieved a considerable amount of the tension which had built up as a nationwide strike against the steel industry appeared to be nearly a certainty.

David J. McDonald, union president, said, however, "I'm not going to get in another filibuster session," and said he would walk out again if the industry continues to refuse to grant worker contract gains.

McDonald Friday declined further sessions with industry representatives, saying they had been fruitless. He called for direct talks with steel company top executives, but that bid was flatly rejected.

McDonald announced this morning, after a meeting with the union's 33-man executive board, that he would go back into session with the regular industry team, headed by U.S. Steel Corp. Vice President R. Conrad Cooper.

"But I'm not going to sit in another filibuster session," McDonald said. "I'm not interested in their case histories."

The union chief expressed hope that "industry's liaison men have some instructions from their superiors to do some real negotiating."

McDonald said nothing has really happened in eight weeks of talks so far. He said the union has made settlement proposals but the industry has offered no wage or other contract increases.

With bargaining at a standstill, neither the industry nor the union could agree on how negotiations should resume.

Union President David J. McDonald summoned his 33-man union executive board into session this morning to "review the entire situation."

The danger of an economy-crippling strike on Wednesday, only four days away, loomed larger than ever.

There are two avenues of speculation as to the reason for the apparent chaotic state of the crucial negotiations.

One is that the industry is really serious about refusing to grant any new labor cost concessions—bolstered by President Eisenhower's call for labor-management moderation.

The second theory is the industry feels it has pushed McDonald and the powerful Steelworkers Union into a corner for the first time in many years and is waiting until the last minute to propose a minimum type contract settlement plan that McDonald would find hard to turn down.

Boasting the latter theory is the fact that steel inventories, while high in anticipation of a possible strike, are not so great as had been contemplated.

Also, a better third quarter demand for steel than had been expected is now in prospect.

While some steel facilities have begun to close down, industry strike preparations were not expected to get fully under way until Sunday or Monday.

Wife of Colonel Gets 30-Year Term

HONOLULU (AP) — Mrs. Kathryn Dennison Foster, 43, was sentenced Friday to 30 years in Oahu Prison for the fatal shooting of her husband in their Waikiki apartment Jan. 18.

Her lawyer served notice of intention to appeal to the Hawaii Supreme Court and execution of sentence was delayed pending this action. She has 20 days to file.

Mrs. Foster testified that she suffered a blackout and could not remember what happened the night her husband, retired Army Lt. Col. Francis Foster, was shot.

She said she might have killed him but she couldn't be sure.

A prosecution witness testified that Foster was shot in the back of the head and could not have shot himself.

What If Big Matt Dillon Plinked Himself in Leg?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Scenes I'd like to see in television Westerns — but I'll never live long enough:

Gunslinger—Matt Dillon walks deliberately down the dusty street while the passersby rush into buildings for shelter. The lean, dark man a block away walks toward Matt just as deliberately. His firing hands hover a few inches from the holsters.

The lean, dark man draws and two shots are fired simultaneously.

"Dagnabbit," Matt yells. His pistol caught in the holster and he has wounded himself in the calf. The L. D. man, whose shot went through the neck of a nearby mule, laughs and rides out of town.

Doe hurries out to treat Matt while Chester says, "Doggone it, Mister Dillon, yore jest goin' to have to practice more on that firin' range."

Have Gun, Will Travel — The sleekly dressed Paladin is enjoying a liqueur while eavesdropping on talk at the next table in the hotel bar. A courier is telling a beautiful young lady that her father has died and the foreman has produced a phony will and has taken over the ranch.

Paladin saunters to her table and offers his card, "Perhaps I could be of service," he smiles.

The beautiful young lady tears his card into small bits and throws them in his face. "You take care of your business and I'll take care of mine," she snaps.

Wagon Train — A scout brings doleful news back to the grizzled old wagonmaster. There are Indians on both sides of the canyon dead ahead. The wagonmaster shakes his head and asks about the route over the mountains.

"We might make it through, though we'd probably lose a few wagons," the scout says. "And we're getting low on water. All those cholera patients have been drinkin' more'n their share."

The wagonmaster peers down toward the canyon, where the Indians are chattering back and forth with smoke. Then he gazes up at the snow-clad sierras.

"Only a fool would try to make it through," he said. "Pass the word: We're heading back to St. Joe."

Pickaway Governments Get $93,917

The State provided Pickaway County local government funds with $93,917 during the fiscal year ending June 30.

Of this amount to local governments, $46,978 came from sales tax money allocated to the county by the legislature. A total of $45,483 came from the intangible tax paid by financial institutions.

A total of $1,455 came from the intangible tax paid by dealers in securities.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, the state provided $50,164,974 for the local government funds of Ohio's 88 counties, the State Auditor's office reports.

THIS IS the largest amount ever returned to the counties in a single year, exceeding by $1,405,382 the total paid in the preceding fiscal year.

Twenty-four million dollars of the local government fund money came from sales tax money allocated to the counties by the legislature; $25,157,597 came from the intangible tax paid by financial institutions, and $1,007,377 from the intangible tax paid by dealers in securities. The state returns the full amount of the intangible tax to local governments.

All of the $1.4 million increase in local government fund distributions this fiscal year resulted from the intangible tax paid by financial institutions and securities dealers.

The local government money is allocated to each county on the basis of its tax duplicate and its population. The money that a county receives is further distributed by the county auditor according to the allocation made by the county budget commission.

Recent reports from the Auditor's office showed that local governments have received $2,026,485 more in gasoline tax money this year than last, and $739,148 more in liquor license fees.

Farmers Must Control Weeds In Soil Bank

Farmers with conservation reserve contracts have a responsibility to themselves and to their neighbors to control the spread of noxious weeds according to Marvin G. Steely, Chairman of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Although the problem affects all farmers, those with conservation reserve contracts must be sure that noxious weeds do not produce seed. Failure to comply with this soil bank regulation could result in forfeiture of the total conservation reserve payment for this year.

Johnson grass, quack grass and Canada thistle are the three noxious weeds which must be prevented from spreading on and from the conservation reserve.

Under average conditions one mowing or one application of chemicals will provide adequate control. However, the wide range in maturity dates for different species will sometimes require attention more than once. Each farmer is expected to use recommended control measures at the proper time.

Competition from other weeds, shrubs, and briars can prevent the establishment and maintenance of desirable cover on conservation reserve land as well as reduce crop yields on nearby cultivated fields. Pickaway County farmers are fully aware of the serious losses which result from uncontrolled weed and other competition.

THE PICKAWAY County ASC Committee may require farmers, who have signed conservation reserve contracts, to cut or spray competing growth in order to maintain approved cover on the reserve. Failure to carry out required maintenance practices on the reserve will be considered a violation of the contract and will result in loss of payment for the year.

Mowing and other control measures should be delayed as late as effective control can be accomplished in order to prevent destruction of beneficial wildlife habitat until after the nesting season. The cover now being developed on conservation reserve areas is expected to increase the game population in Ohio. This aspect of the soil bank program should not be hindered by unnecessary or untimely control measures.

County 4-Hers At Camp Ohio

Attend Leadership Training Sessions

By Beverly McKenzie

Roger Schneider and I returned Sunday from a five-day conference at the 4-H Junior Leadership Camp at Camp Ohio. This camp is more of an educational conference composed of two junior leaders from every county in Ohio. The theme was "Focus on the 4-H's". Each day emphasis was put on the 4-H's.

Assemblies were held every morning and afternoon along with assemblies on Monday and Tuesday nights. In these assemblies speakers talked to us about such subjects as "Exploring Careers", "Know Yourself — Be Yourself", "IFYE — The Heart of the World", and "What Kind of a Leader am I". After some of these talks we asked questions of the speaker or divided into discussion groups. In this way we can better understand the problems that have been brought forth.

In the "Exploring Careers" assembly everyone went into the group in which he plans to make his career. Such groups were education, home economics, law, engineering, nursing and agriculture. The speakers, who were from the Ohio State University Placement Committee, told us such things as the possibility of getting into this field after we attend college or the requirements for college.

The Rev. John Clippenger, in his talk "Know Yourself — Be Yourself", discussed teenagers going steady and early marriage. Also, the divorce rate might be less if a boy and girl would wait until they have dated many persons and learn to know the person better.

Former Ohio IFYE delegates spoke about their lives in the country they visited. These countries were Switzerland, Scotland and Pakistan. We discussed such things as should more money be spent for foreign aid than is presently being spent and spending less for defense, should an IFYE student wear his country's clothes or wear the country's he is visiting, what should an IFYE delegate do if he is offered something he does not like, should he take it so as not to offend his adopted family, etc.

THESE ARE ONLY three of the assemblies and discussion groups offered. Also a safety contest was held with prizes given to each participant and the winner. Each cabin had an entrant who wrote and gave their speech.

Of course along with this we had recreation, campfires, a picnic,

'59 Wheat Harvest Is Now Under Way

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The 1959 wheat harvest is under way. Farmers should not hesitate to get into the fields and get started. Farmers can reduce losses by a bushel or more per acre by combining the grain above 14 per cent moisture.

But before farmers combine wheat above 14 per cent, they should either be sure their elevator has facilities for drying or buying high moisture wheat, or have equipment on their own farms to dry wheat down to 14 per cent for safe storage.

After wheat is mature or about 30 per cent moisture, there is about a bushel loss every five days. This loss is from shattering, birds, and other causes before the combine gets into the field.

Combines work most efficiently when grain has between 15 and 19 per cent moisture because there is less overthreshing and chaff to handle. Above 20 per cent moisture there is excessive kernel damage.

By combining as the moisture content goes down from 20 to 14 per cent and drying the grain the test weight per bushel at 14 per cent moisture can be increased a pound or more.

Farmers interested in grain drying rest periods and plenty of food.

Each 4-H member should work for this honor; they will profit greatly from the knowledge and the friends.

STORED GRAIN INSECTS

For wheat, or other grain that is going to be stored, we recommend these three steps:

1. Sweep down and clean out the grain bin. Clean out any pockets of waste grain in chicken houses and other buildings and in wagon and truck beds and loading equipment. It is the old grain that harbors the infestation for next year. It should be swept up and burned.

2. Spray the empty bin walls, ceiling, or floor with two pounds of 50 per cent Methoxychlor wettable powder, of 1½ pints of 57 per cent Malathion emulsion concentrate in 5 gallons of water. This should be done 2 to 3 weeks before new grain goes into the bin in order to give the insecticide time to work.

3. Grain to be held over the winter can be protected by protectant dusts, or sprays containing either Malathion, or Prethrum. Treatment should be made at the time the grain is being fed into the bin. Only the "premium grade" Malathion should be used as a grain spray. It is commercially available and will be tried by ASC in several of their storages.

Interplanting Possible in Corn Crops

By George Hamrick
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Many farmers during the past few years have been making seedings in standing corn and soybeans. This operation will return organic matter to the soil to maintain tilth of field in continuous corn. The condition of the field at plowing time will be more suitable for earlier field operations.

Domestic rye grass can be used in both corn and soybeans at the last cultivation by using a tractor seeder, box seeder, hand seeder, airplane, or grain drill, using 20 pounds of rye grass per acre.

If the seeding is delayed till mid August rye should be used in the seeding and will probably have to be done by airplane at about 90 pounds of rye per acre.

A high fertility level is essential for satisfactory interplantings. Early seeding of grasses, especially in corn, is highly desirable. Don't wait too long. Corn grows fast when it is knee high.

The seeding can be made at the same time as cultivation. Seed only four rows at a time with a tractor seeder.

Chief imports of Russia are metals and machinery.

Americans Marrying Younger

Marriage is busting out all over these days. June brides are making the social pages everywhere bulge. So, perhaps it will be interesting to update readers on what is happening to the age-old state of wedded bliss.

A new study by the Population Reference Bureau reveals these facts:

Brides and bridegrooms are the youngest in U. S. history. Average age for first-time marriages in the U. S. last year was 23 for men, 20 for women (compared to 26 for men and 22 for women in 1890).

More girls married at 18 at any other age in 1958. Today the married college coed is no longer the rarity she was a generation ago. Will the married high school couple be a commonplace a few years hence?

Last year 45 per cent of women marrying for the first time and 13 per cent of first-time bridegrooms were under 20 years of age. Idaho reports the youngest average age of marriage partners (brides averaging under 19 and new husbands under 22). Connecticut had the oldest (women averaged 22 and men 24.6).

Lowest minimum age for a girl to marry in any state is now 14; five years ago four states permitted marriage at age 1. States with the 14-year minimum now are Alabama, Georgia, Iowa, Kentucky, South Carolina, Texas and Utah. Two states — Idaho and Missouri — permit boys to wed at 15.

One-quarter of all weddings in the U. S. are remarriages. One of every 20 divorced women remarrying was a teenager. Divorced men remarried at average age of 36, women at 31. One of every eight widows returning to the altar was over 70. One of every 25 widows was (or admitted to being) over that age.

That about sums it up, except for the obvious conclusion that with the young marrying younger, accelerated demand for goods and services is sure to have an impact on the economy.

Ready for Census Again?

Americans are about to be counted again, which means that by the end of 1960 the Bureau of the Census will know a lot about us that we know about ourselves.

The practice goes back to Moses, but we've been doing it every 10 years since 1790, under a constitutional requirement having to do with the apportionment of representatives in Congress.

Since that time, however, the census has gone far beyond the mere tallying of noses with the result that as of now there is very little information about us that the government hasn't received and filed.

Americans will be asked some new questions next year. But since most of us now have kitchen sinks, mechanical refrigerators and electricity, inquiries concerning them will be dropped. It is a sign of our time that Washington is now interested in what we own in the way of bedrooms, bathrooms, elevators, automobiles, freezers, air conditioners and washing machines.

Estimates are that about 160,000 enumerators are going to add us up, in addition to finding out how much we earn, how we get to and from work and perhaps whether or not our hats are on straight.

At the end of the whole decennial job we'll know not only how many we are, but also where we are, where we've been and, maybe, where we're going.

Most of us can't wait.

Exit a Good Man, Strauss

The Strauss controversy is not dead and will not cease to be a political issue until after the 1960 election. It is easy talking for Sens. Lyndon Johnson and Everett Dirksen to say that they will bury that hatchet. But they have buried it in the neck of a human being. It may even lead to a constitutional amendment giving the President the authority to choose his own Cabinet without "the advice and consent of the Senate."

By a parliamentary trick, Lewis L. Strauss was rejected as Secretary of Commerce of the United States. It was a soul-searing experience and while the vote was 49-46 and the proceedings were strictly partisan, nevertheless a human being, who has served his country well, has been rejected and humiliated.

For any man, this is a tough deal. It will hurt forever. The question is: Does Lewis L. Strauss deserve such treatment? Is he a thief? Has he accepted bribes? Has he ever harmed his country? Is he a wicked man?

No one, except possibly Sen. Wayne Morse, has ever questioned Lewis Strauss' integrity and to be insulted by Sen. Wayne Morse is not altogether an unhappy occurrence. It may even help a man in his political relationships.

What then is Lewis L. Strauss' crime? Let me list some of the accusations against him:

1. He is haughty in manner.

2. He has withheld information concerning atomic energy from committees of Congress.

3. He has followed President Eisenhower's program in the Dixon-Yates matter, seeking to save the United States from socialist power programs.

4. He has refused to consent to Sen. Clinton Anderson's program to enter upon a wasteful and costly atomic public power program for which there is no necessity in this country.

5. He has been a banker.

6. He brought about the dismissal of Robert Oppenheimer from the Atomic Energy Commission after Oppenheimer gave testimony to establish that he had lied and that he had paid dues to the Communist Party.

7. He has prevented the shipment of American goods to Soviet Russia.

For these felonies and misdemeanors, the Democratic Party in the United States Senate opposed his confirmation as Secretary of Commerce. For these reasons, he was humiliated and rejected.

It is not astonishing that Sen. Wayne Morse and Sen. Clinton Anderson opposed Strauss. It is astonishing that Sen. Lyndon Johnson, a man of foresight and political know-how, resorted to a political stratagem to force a vote on the Strauss matter when several Republicans, who would have voted for Strauss, were away from Washington. Some of them rushed back, just in time to vote. All he needed was two more votes for a narrow confirmation. On such small margins are great issues decided. Had he been confirmed in this manner, he would undoubtedly have declined to serve as Clare Luce had.

I have known Strauss well for about a quarter of a century. I first met him in the company of Herbert Hoover. He had been Hoover's secretary and friend since 1917. He had been associated with Hoover in all his relief enterprises. He had thus had a vast experience in administration and in humanitarian endeavor.

When President Truman appointed Lewis Strauss to the Atomic Energy Commission, it was because of this experience and because Strauss had made himself a master of atomic science and had had close relations with the Princeton Group, including Albert Einstein. Also he had set up a foundation in honor of his father and mother to provide awards for scientists.

Strauss may go back to banking or may devote himself to public service but this is certain: He will not be sore. He is not that kind of a man. He will accept it that when one enters politics, one must be prepared for anything.

On the other hand, when the game is played in this manner, how is it possible to mobilize the brains and character of this nation for public service? Who needs to go through the ordeal of Clare Luce or of Lewis Strauss?

There are other things to do. There are places to work where one's services are appreciated and where one is not humiliated by politicians who cater to pressure groups.

Nevertheless, anyone judging the calibre of American officialdom comes to the sad realization that the best minds of the country do not go into government.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THOMAS WOLFE, author of "Look Homeward Angel," made heavy weather out of the most minute chore. He called on his editor, the late Max Perkins, for lunch one day, and was handed a copy of his latest novel. "A friend asked me to get this autographed for him," explained Perkins. "Please sign it while I get my coat."

When Perkins returned, an agitated Wolfe was pacing up and down the office. "I don't know what to write," he confessed. He continued his pacing fully five minutes longer, then seized a pen and wrote on the flyleaf of the volume, "Yours hurriedly, Thomas Wolfe."

IN KEY POST—After accepting the key post of Argentine minister of economics, Alvaro Alsogaray, a retired army officer, talks to newsmen in Buenos Aires. The key man in a new cabinet being formed by President Frondizi, Alsogaray announced Argentina's politico-military crisis has been "completely overcome." Cabinet resigned under military pressure.

Behind this reasoning is the argument that if the holder legislation is killed by a Republican veto, the Democrats will have a better political issue in the 1960 elections.

But Johnson and Rayburn, because they are the Democratic leaders in Congress, can reply that they have built over the years a congressional record which must have pleased the voters since the Democrats have been given control of Congress in the past three elections despite Republican control of the administration.

Epilepsy Slight Handicap

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

I doubt that any illness is surrounded with as many misconceptions and taboos as is epilepsy.

Not so long ago, I recall, we spoke of cancer in the same hushed tones with which the general public today refers to epilepsy. We have finally adopted a realistic approach to cancer, so why not with epilepsy, too?

Probably the most damaging misconception is that epilepsy is entirely a disease of the nervous system and that the victims have a below normal mentality.

Naturally, as widespread public belief such as this can have a very bad effect upon the victims of epilepsy, and all too frequently these persons develop psychoses and wind up as social cripples.

Actually, far less than 20 per cent of our epileptics have below average mentalities. These are among the relatively few who have to be institutionalized or who don't respond to any known treatment.

More than half of our epileptics cases recover completely. Another 30 per cent can control the situation so that their handicap is negligible.

I want you to understand that epilepsy is not a disease, but a symptom of a condition affecting the patient.

Moreover, you yourself may have had a minor attack of epilepsy and never even realized it. Most cases occur before the age of 21.

Perhaps you experienced only a momentary loss of memory; maybe you failed to hear something said to you, or you might have made a few involuntary motions or wandered aimlessly for a brief time.

These occurrences could have been the result of a mild psychomotor form of epilepsy.

The causes of epilepsy are many and varied. Certain blood diseases, kidney disturbances, tumors or a severe shortage of calcium or oxygen might be blamed for some cases. Others might be the result of a degenerative process.

And, of course, there are some cases for which we can find no organic or structural basis.

With some 15 or so drugs which we have available, we can control the vast majority of cases. Most epileptic children can go to school, most epileptic adults can work. They are, for all practical purposes, just like everybody else.

Question and Answer
W. B.: In 1945 I was discharged from the Army because of symptoms of neurocirculatory asthenia. This condition is slowly becoming worse.

Could you tell me anything that can be done for this ailment?

Answer: Neurocirculatory asthenia is basically a nervous or emotional condition. Sometimes psychiatric care will be of great help in this situation.

$8½ Million Spent on Ohio Institutions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction said today it has spent more than $8½ million dollars in the past two years to prolong the life of its hospital, school and correctional buildings.

A special report prepared this spring at the request of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle was critical of maintenance efforts and the general condition of some facilities at the state's 25 mental hospitals.

The department said that $8,542,923 was spent in the two-year period that ends June 30.

Of that amount, it said, $6,836,923 has been spent on 51 projects to rehabilitate and alter buildings where detailed engineering and architectural services were required.

Ninety-nine repair and maintenance jobs accounted for the rest of the expenditure, the department explained.

Among the projects, some of which are still in progress, are these, the department said:

Athens State Hospital—$353,000 for reconstruction of two cottages, roofing repairs, and replacement of an amusement hall floor.

Mansfield Reformatory — $48,000 for new roof on administration building, reconstruction of parapet walls.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's veto of the wheat and tobacco bills illustrates the dilemma of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, leader of the Senate Democrats.

Johnson and his fellow Texan, Speaker Sam Rayburn, leader of the House Democrats, were able to muster enough votes, but only a majority, to pass the two bills which they knew beforehand Eisenhower didn't like.

But to re-pass them over a presidential veto requires a two-thirds vote of both houses, far harder to get than a simple majority and in this situation practically impossible.

Therefore, Eisenhower's veto Thursday night just about means no new wheat or tobacco programs this year.

In both houses the Democrats have a huge majority over the Republicans: 64 to 34 in the Senate; 283 to 153 in the House. But in neither house do the Democrats have two-thirds of the membership.

For that, they'd need 66 senators, or two more than they have, and 290 House members, or seven more than they have. So even if Democrats voted solidly, and they seldom do, they'd still need Republican help to override a veto.

Thus Eisenhower, although his Republicans are badly outnumbered, has in his threat of a veto a mighty weapon to push the Democratic leadership into shaping legislation into a form acceptable to him.

This is an amazing situation, particularly in view of this fact: In the past three elections—even in 1956 when Eisenhower himself was winning a second term—the voters trusted the Democrats more than the Republicans to do what they wanted by giving them control of Congress each time.

And Johnson, who describes himself as a "prudent progressive," has sought a middle ground and with this explanation:

That he has a responsibility for getting legislation through Congress and would rather see Congress achieve a record of legislation passed than create political issues or controversy by seeking legislation which may be vetoed.

The result: He has made a policy of shepherding through Congress fairly conservative legislation. This is: legislation which has a good chance of getting a majority vote and still falling within Eisenhower's requirements.

This Congress, like others before it, and despite liberals' claims that the overwhelming Democratic victory last November was a mandate for liberal legislation, is made up of three groups:

The reactionaries in both parties a fairly small gathering, on one end; a handful of liberals in both parties on the other end, and in the middle, by overwhelming number, the conservatives.

Johnson constantly plays to that big middle group. At any given time this middle-of-the-road approach will be too progressive for the reactionaries, too conservative for the liberals.

By standing on the middle ground Johnson is beginning to draw the fire of liberal groups and even non-congressional leaders in his own party: Members of the advisory council of the Democratic National Committee.

They have generally taken this position:

Johnson shouldn't let himself be pushed by the specter of a presidential veto, into blessing legislation Eisenhower may approve. Instead, they contend, he should fight for far more extensive legislation.

Operator Quits

HONOLULU (AP) — After 32 years of service, the last male telephone operator in the Hawaiian Islands has hung up the receiver.

Tokuichi Sugawa, 60, had been an operator on the neighboring island of Kauai for the Hawaiian Telephone Co.

In the early days, Sugawa said, "I could recognize the voice of nearly everyone who called."

If someone were to deprive you of the right of relaxation you would be a slave.

Yet relaxation itself can enslave us!

Nero is a villain of history because he fiddled while Rome burned. He couldn't have put out the fire . . . but what a colossally stupid time to relax!

There are hours in every week when we need to relax. And there are hours that challenge our mightiest effort.

It is like those hours when, with millions of the world over, we have opportunity to seek in our churches truth . . . faith . . . God!

The value of relaxation is unquestionable. But the value of religious and moral growth is supreme!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

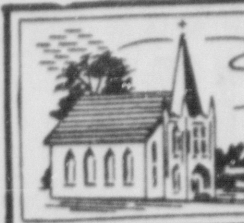

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Nixon, Tito Make List of Pinup Boys

LONDON (AP)—Two new pin-up boys took a bow today in the world of men's fashion—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and President Tito of Yugoslavia.

Along with Fred Astaire, Rex Harrison and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., they were among the 11 best dressed men of 1959 selected by Tailor and Cutter magazine, British arbiter of masculine elegance. Nixon, said the magazine, finds a neat line between the wigwag shapes of U.S. drape and the ludicrously tight togs of U.S. ivy leaguers.

Tito won a citation because "He's the ritziest dictator in the business."

Others on the list were millionaire Nubar Gulbenkian, Sir David Eccles, president of the British Board of Trade, the young Duke of Kent, the photographer, Cecil Beaton, and British Gen. Sir Frederick Browning, husband of novelist Daphne du Maurier.

The 11th name was not given, "a matter of pure modesty," said the magazine.

Miss Lucille Dumm conducted the meeting and read "The Achievements of Eisenhower - Nixon Administration 1953-1959". A discussion followed of the new Republican National Chairman, Thurston B. Morton, Kentucky; and Secretary of State Christian Herter's recent speech.

Games followed the business meeting and prizes went to Miss Dumm, Mrs. Charles W. Winner and Mrs. Roy Dumm. Mrs. Robert M. Barnes received the door prize.

This was the last regular meeting until September; however, the group is planning a picnic in July.

Newark Lawman Is Hailed As Ohio 'Sheriff of Year'

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Licking County Sheriff William McElroy of Newark today received the "sheriff of the year" award of the Ohio Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, for his role in bringing three persons quickly to justice in a 1958 bank robbery.

McElroy, 57, has been a law enforcement officer almost continuously since he first became a deputy sheriff in 1929.

His award today consisted of a plaque presented by James H. Kellner of Buckeye Lake, a field representative for the Buckeye State Sheriffs' Assn. and past state president of the Ohio Eagles, holding their 56th annual convention here.

The bank robbery was at the Kerkersville branch of the Park National bank of Newark.

In staging it, Paul Earl Collins, 42, Columbus, forced bank employees to lie on the floor and made his getaway in a car in which Charles Kenneth Abrams, 33, was waiting.

Meanwhile, Abrams' wife, Alberta, 32, had parked a truck directly in front of the bank entrance and was posing as a customer.

Arriving at the scene, Sheriff McElroy noted the nervous manner of Mrs. Abrams when she gave her statement and what turned out to be a phony description of Collins.

This proved to be the break in the case. Within three days, McElroy had arrested Collins, who was found near his mother's home at Ironton; and the Abrams couple.

The sheriff recovered part of the loot and the robbery gun from the trailer court where the Abrams lived.

More was found buried near a truck terminal where Collins once worked.

Still more was found in the jail cell of Mrs. Abrams who had hidden it on her person when she was arrested.

Collins and Abrams got 45 year terms. Mrs. Abrams got 20 years. McElroy first became sheriff in 1940. From 1946 to 1948 he was executive secretary of the Buckeye State Sheriffs' Assn.

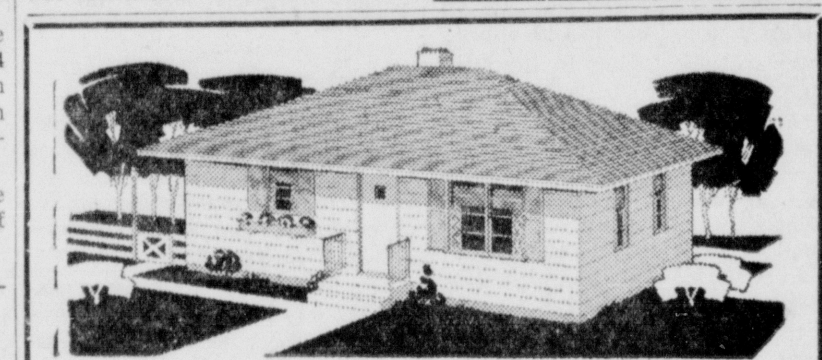

Some 675 delegates are attending the convention. Attendance is expected to swell to 4,000 Saturday.

In 1939 President Roosevelt gave a "hot dog" picnic for the King and Queen of Great Britain at Hyde Park.

Gals Have Great Time at Annual Women's Invitational

It's Barbecue Time! Don't Forget Variety of Seasoning

By Kileen Ewing
Associate County Extension Agent

Are you running out of ideas for barbecuing?

The barbecue season is now in full swing. But, aren't you tired of having just plain charcoal steaks or hamburgers?

The use of seasonings can give you that added zest to your barbecued meats.

Enhance the flavor of hamburger patties with basil. Or try seasoning with curry powder, Worcestershire, Tabasco, garlic, salt or horse radish.

Before broiling steak, rub the steak with a cut clove of garlic or seasoning salts.

For chicken use paprika with gusto. For herb flavor, roll in flour then sprinkle with thyme and marjoram.

SPRINKLE LAMB chops with dill seed, or give them a gourmet touch with a dash of marjoram.

Pork chops have an added appeal when sprinkled lightly with sage or thyme.

On fish filets sprinkle with marjoram or tarragon before broiling.

Monosodium glutamate brings out natural flavors of meats, poultry, fish and vegetables. Just add with other seasonings. There is an art to using seasonings in your cooking. Why don't you try your luck with seasonings.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Stop Harping and Believe

DEAR ABBY: When I returned from a 3-week visit to take care of my daughter's new baby, I found a cheap earring between the cushions of my sofa. I questioned my husband. He admitted that one night he got restless and couldn't sleep and went uptown to a bar for a few drinks. He said he invited a gang of strangers home with him (including this woman who lost the earring). But he swears nothing happened. I said I'd forgive him, but I can't. I keep wondering if he told me the whole truth. I won't be satisfied till I know. How can I be sure?

MUST KNOW
DEAR MUST: Just keep harping on it and you'll drive him back to the bar in search of a nice sympathetic ear to go with the earring. Believe him, and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young divorcee with a problem. When I go out with a young man should I tell him I am divorced the first time I go out with him or should I wait until I know him better? My mother says it's none of his business.

YOUNG DIVORCEE
DEAR YOUNG: Your mother is wrong. Wouldn't you want to know if a man had a divorce.

in his background? Give him the same break.

DEAR ABBY: We have two boys, 7 and 12. My husband is a fanatic about the boys getting hurt. The older boy has begged for a two-wheel bicycle for years so we finally got one last Christmas. His father won't let him ride it anywhere except in front of the house. He can't take it across any streets. His friends laugh at him. We live five blocks from school, but my husband drives the boys there in the morning and I pick them up. I go along with his ideas to keep peace in the family. What else can I do?

MRS. J.
DEAR MRS. J.: In an effort to keep his sons "safe" physically, Dad is crippling them emotionally. Children need to be taught to care for themselves. Your husband should have a long talk with a professional counselor.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder why there are so many women who can't get along with their mothers-in-law? I have two in my house plus my own mother and we get along just wonderful. When my first husband died his mother was living with us. She was 73 and in a wheelchair from a stroke so I kept her with me. She's jolly and never complains. I was married again to a man who had a 77-year-old widowed mother with sugar diabetes and one leg gone. So there are two in wheelchairs. You never saw sweeter women. My own mother is 76 and partially blind and she's with me, too. I read them your column out loud every day, Abby, and when we hear other people's problems, we think we are real lucky. Love, SALLY

DEAR SALLY: You are lucky indeed, because you have a lot of love in your heart and know how to give it to others. Thank you for your beautiful letter and God bless you.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

HITCHCOCK PRESENTS!—Just returned from a marathon honeymoon trip with her disabled third husband, Mrs. Helen Babin Bartlett, a 52-year-old grandmother, was arrested in Buffalo for the 1956 bathtub drowning of her heavily-insured second husband. She was charged with first degree murder after she made a signed statement admitting she killed Alfred J. Babin, 43, while he was bathing. Police were put on her trail when insurance companies reported she had obtained, or applied for, a series of accident insurance policies on No. 3, Wright Bartlett, 69, amounting to over $100,000.

LAST VISIT—Guy Starkweather, father of mass murderer Charles Starkweather, walks from Nebraska penitentiary in Lincoln following his last visit with his son before the 20-year-old youth was electrocuted for the slaying of 11 persons on a killing spree 18 months ago.

Johansson's Explosive Right Brings Him World's Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson's "mystery" right hand turned out to be an atomic weapon—an explosive force that propelled him to the world's heavyweight championship.

The "thunder and lightning" that the undefeated Swede had promised was unleashed in a pulsating third round that saw defending champion Floyd Patterson felled seven times and stripped him of his crown in rain-soaked Yankee Stadium Friday night.

It was a right hand bomb that burst against the jaw of the 3-1 favored American seconds after the third round had started. The power-packed right smashed Patterson to the floor on his back and bereft him of his senses.

Calmly and coldly, as if he were sighting a rifle, the handsome, blue-eyed Viking dropped his bleeding and reeling foe to the canvas until Referee Ruby Goldstein ended the slaughter with a wave of his hands.

It went into the record books as a technical knockout. The seven counts were 9, 9, 6, 6, 7, 9 and 1, all in two minutes and three seconds. It was a massacre.

The mighty right — never displayed in his lackluster training maneuvers—made the 26-year-old, 196-pound first Swede ever to win a world boxing championship.

It was complete atonement for Ingo's humiliating disqualification for running and not fighting against American Eddie Sanders in the heavyweight championship final of the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki. In these same games, Patterson was one of the shining stars in capturing the 165-pound crown.

The astonishing upset — witnessed by some 30,000 at the ball park and thousands more in theaters coast to coast—must rank with such shockers as Max Schmeling's kayo of Joe Louis in 1936, Jim Braddock's triumph over Max Baer in 1935 and Jersey Joe Walcott's annihilation of Ezzard Charles in 1931.

The great triumph earned Johansson a purse of about $248,000 — most of which will be either attached in law suits or held in escrow for his return bout with Patterson, probably in September. Patterson will collect approximately $560,000 from all sources of revenue, gate, theater-television, radio and movies.

The punch that sent Patterson, 182, on his way "was a straight right—flush on the chin," said the unmarked invader. "It was my best shot and I thought the fight was over there. I was surprised when he got up. Usually, when I hit a man like that he stays down. But I had to hit him again and again."

"I couldn't see the punch coming," said Patterson. "The first one hit flush on the forehead. When I got up I didn't know where I was. I didn't feel the second punch, but after that I think I started to come out of it. But I couldn't criticize the referee for stopping the fight."

While Patterson was being interviewed in his dressing room, his conqueror strode in, a gentle grin on his face.

"Are you hurt, Floyd?" he asked.

"No," replied Patterson. "Patterson will be the first heavyweight champion in history to regain the title," said Floyd's manager, Gus D'Amato.

That first, flashing right that sent the 24-year-old Patterson flat on his back will be long remembered.

Until that blow was landed neither had done much. Ingo, 6 feet 1/2 inch to Patterson's 5-11, had kept the champion back with a Down he went five more times and after the last—the seventh of the round—the referee waved off the challenger who became the new world champion.

Thus Ingo became the fourth heavyweight ever to win the crown without a defeat on his record.

Newkalters But Redlegs Chalk Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Big Don Newcombe finally got a refresher course in how to go to the showers early.

The big right-hander, who had won seven in a row and gone the distance nine times, was knocked out of the box in the eighth inning Friday night by the St. Louis Cardinals, but the Redlegs came back to win the game 7-6 in 10 innings.

For seven innings, Newcombe looked like he was on his way to another victory, but Cardinal home runs in the eighth ended his hopes.

Going into the eighth, Big Newk had a 2-1 lead. Don Blasingame grounded out and then the sky fell in. Joe Cunningham homered into the rightfield seats, Bill White doubled, Ken Boyer homered and Newcombe departed.

Brooks Lawrence replaced him but before he got the side out he walked Gino Cimoli who scored a minute later on Stan Musiel's second home run of the night. Musiel scored the Cards' first run in the seventh.

The Redlegs tied it in their half of the inning on walks by Gus Bell and Ed Bailey and singles by Jim Pendleton, Eddie Kasko, Johnny Temple and White Lockman.

The Cards got the first two men on in the tenth but reliever Luis Arroyo, who picked up his first decision with Cincinnati, worked his way out of trouble.

The Redlegs got their winning run when Temple doubled to the scoreboard, scoring Kasko who had been walked intentionally. Earlier, the Reds had picked up one run in the fifth and another in the sixth.

Purina Bops Elks, 13-2

Ralston Purina moved into second place in the Little League majors with a sweeping 13-2 victory over the Elks last night in Ted Lewis Park.

Purina wrapped up the game in the first inning with a six hit outburst, good for six runs. The Elks two runs came in the second inning.

Gary Leasure won his first game of the year, holding the Elks to six hits. In going the route, Leasure walked one man and fanned eight.

Jimmy Wells was charged with the defeat. He was relieved by Bobby Dean and George Watson during the six inning tilt.

WELLS walked one man, while Dean struck out seven and issued five free passes. Watson finished off, whiffing one batter.

Of Purina's 13 hits, seven were for extra bases. Gary Stewart hit his first home run of the year with a man on.

Other Purina sluggers were John Wardell, Ronnie Seward, Jim Morgan and Jeff Lutz, all hitting doubles with Lutz connecting for a man on.

Craig Lambert, promoted from the minors to Purina yesterday, started his major career with a triple, resulting in a run.

Dave Green and Dean provided all the Elks' power with a triple and double each. Purina now stands 2-2 on the season while the Elks fell to 1-3 and are tied in the cellar with Coca Cola.

Ashville Edges Ward's Market, 5-3, with Homer

Ashville dropped intercity rival Ward's Market, 5-3, last night on the Bronco Diamond.

Ward's, leading the Circleville Little League minors, led 3-0 going into the fourth when Ashville tied the score.

In the bottom of the final inning, Mallory came up to bat with a man on and cracked a game clinching home run to end the contest.

Dale Kuhlwein notched the victory, striking out 10 and walking five. Steve Burger took the loss for Ward's, fanning five and issuing three walks.

Each team had six hits, but more of Ashville's hits went for extra bases. Roeser hit a triple with Dore and Lambert poked doubles. Ward's Rodney Hedges hit a double. Only one error was committed, that by Ashville.

Tunney Impressed By New Champion

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP)—Gene Tunney, who retired as unbeaten heavyweight champion 30 years ago, was strong in his praise of Ingemar Johansson, the new champion.

"I only met him once before last night's fight and I was highly impressed," said Tunney on his return home from the title fight in New York. "I always considered but this Johansson, he is a real fighter."
